

NORTHWEST DC

Northwest Washington, DC is a great place to reside if you are looking for convenience to everything downtown Washington, DC has to offer. One of the up and coming neighborhoods is West End. As with many of the neighborhoods of DC, the West End is undergoing some redevelopment. You will experience great restaurants and shopping if you visit this unique neighborhood with many options for your choosing. If you are looking for a new apartment home, your options are greatly varied and very interesting.

Have you heard about the new "green" apartment communities? If you are interested in the environment, you probably have heard about the innovations taking place in the property management industry with the new development of "green" communities. These new communities are not only using Energy Star appliances, they are making sure all of their paints, carpets, adhesives and sealants are low-VOC. The floor plans are designed with maximum natural light and open floor plans with water conserving fixtures. One of the first communities to be rated as LEED Silver in the Washington, DC area is West End 25.

The West End 25 apartment community resides in the West End neighborhood, in the middle of Georgetown, Dupont Circle and Rock Creek Park. The building is a repurposed office building. They have a green rooftop, a recycling program, bike racks and all of the apartments are designed green as well. These brand new apartment homes mingle upscale amenities inside this LEED-certified building to create a green lifestyle that doesn't skimp on comfort. Rooftop pool with a WiFi-enabled sun lounge, fitness center with iPod docking stations and LCD screens are some of the top-of-the line amenities, in addition to the Zen garden and resident lounge with fireplaces and HDTV. This property has first class service as well. Residents enjoy valet dry cleaning, Zipcar rentals and more. If customer service is important to you, this community is managed by Bozzuto, the winner of the NAHB property management company of the year award.

If you are looking for a new community that is "green," West End 25 in Northwest DC may be one you should put on your list to visit.
